About the Workshop

In today's technically advanced world, information is growing very fast and the modes of the storage of this information are also transformed differently. For these explosions of information, the librarians meet some unique demands and expectations from the library users. The Digital library is one of these examples of transformation where students received the information digitally. In the Assessment and Accreditation of higher educational institutions, the library takes a very important and integral role. It is most important for an institution to understand the importance as well as the core areas of libraries in the modern world. Highlighting this, the BholaNath College is going to organize a one-day workshop on College Library Transformation in the Digital Era with reference to NAAC and NEP 2020.”
